Mashawana Foundation laid a helping hand to Mphuthi's family

By Treasure Masombuka

KWAGGAFONTEIN – Recently Mashawana Foundation denotes the sense of playing a social responsibility where deemed necessary. It started from the good-warm hearted of the local Samaritan, Sollie Mahlangu (teacher) who approached Mpumalanga Press to seek an alternative approach of helping the physically challenged Sibongile Mphuthi (19) of Dobhabantu section in Kwaggafontein. She struggled to walk from home to school because she gained weight that led to her prosthetic leg damaged. Various approaches were explored, inter alia, creation of awareness through the media channels which ultimately lure Mashawana Foundation to remedy the young girl's physical pitfalls.

Mahlangu said "we live for each other, to your enemy, forgiveness is the remedy for life. However, we are all made for goodness, love and compassion. We've put smile to Sbhongile's family, that is, a smile's warmth comes from the fire within the heart of an individual community member. To those who lay a helping hand must know that to keep a warm heart in a cold world is the real victory for life. Let us be kind, remember that everyone you meet is fighting a harder battle. I thank my family, especially my wife who is the pillar of my strength. We can change the world when we polish together." Mahlangu engaged various stakeholders, inter alia, Department of Social Development in Mpumalanga, Lotto, ward councilor and few business organizations without success. "Those frustrations never let me down in lieu of giving up, I've soldiered on hence we are witnessing the immense support from Mashawana Foundation, AfriBiz Invest and Ottobock. The rest is history," said Mahlangu. Mphuthi's family received early Christmas. These organisations donated a new prosthetic leg to Sibongile and built them a new 4 room – house. "I could not believe these! How can we ever thank you enough for all you've done? You helped me right when I needed help most. If anyone deserves thanks, it's all of you. I really appreciate bubuMahlangu's support. He went extra mile soldier on against all odds," said Sibongile.

Mahlangu initiated the journey on the 28th of May after noticed Sbhongile struggled when walking with the broken prosthetic leg. Mpumalanga Press ran the story appealing to the good Samaritans to lay a hand. Sibongile's mother, Thembi Mphuthi (43) thanked all parties who played a role to enhance her family life. "Ngithokoza kuzala umlomo ngendlela ubaba uMahlangu asiphuthe ngayo. Ngithi lapho athethekhona kwande. Ngingakhohlwa bakwaMashawana Foundation, AfriBiz Invest and Ottobock." lose translation – I want to thank all the organisations and Mr Mahlangu for their warm hearts and wishing them best of luck and they should continue to play a social responsibility role in our communities," said the single mother. According to Mashawana Foundation, the decision to donate the house was taken after their first visit to the family. "Our main intention was to donate a new leg for Sibongile. During the visit we've realized that the contexts of their house was a challenge and immediately built this new house," said Collen Mashwana, philanthropist and the executive chairperson of AfriBiz (Construction Company - water and sanitation development, infrastructure and property development sector).

Thembisile Hani Municipality executive mayor, Nomsa Mtshweni applauded all role players encouraged them to lead by example and be consistent of their kindness to uplift the community. She also applauded Mr Mahlangu's workaholic abilities and wish him to continue lay a helping hand where deemed necessary. Amongst the benefactors were Tshepo Masasa accompanied by Dr Danny Van Der Merwe of Ottobock and Phongo Pule of AfriBiz Invest.

POLICE MANAGE- MENT WEL- COMES LIFE SENTENCE IMPOSED AGAINST A MAN WHO MURDERED HIS GIRL- FRIEND IN THE BUS

By MP Staff Reporter

Vaalbank – On December 02, 2020 The police management in Mpumalanga has welcomed a life sentence handed down by the Mpumalanga Division of the High Court which was sitting at Middelburg to a man who murdered his ex-girlfriend at Vaalbank near KwaMhlanga.

The decision to sentence Titus Timtos Thabo, aged 28, was reached after appalling evidence was presented in court which revealed details on how he (Thabo) brutally stabbed his ex-girlfriend, who later died. The shocking incident happened inside a moving bus in full view of other commuters on 06 January 2020.

On that sad day, Thabo took a bus which was travelling from Pretoria to KwaMhlanga and he sat at a separate seat away from the victim Mahlangu. The court heard that Thabo did not accept that his then 27 year old girlfriend Phindile Portia Mahlangu decided to end the relationship he had with her. He then orchestrated an evil plan to end her life.

The bus reached Almansdrift C near Vaalbank where most commuters alighted but Mahlangu and Thabo remained with other few commuters as well as the bus driver. He (Thabo) then suddenly stood up and walked towards Mahlangu where an argument ensued about the decision she took regarding their relationship. Thabo then slapped her before stabbing her with a knife several times. Terrified commuters screamed in fear for help where the bus driver also attempted to stop the bus so that he could intervene. However, Thabo instructed him to continue driving while he went on stabbing Mahlangu in spite of her pleading for her life. Once he was done, he then told the driver to stop and he got off the bus and went home. Mahlangu, who was bleeding profusely, was assisted to a nearby house where she was then taken to the nearest clinic. Unfortunately she later succumbed to her injuries.

Police were notified about the incident and a case of murder was opened. Thabo after being informed by his brother that police as well as community members were looking for him concerning the murder of his ex-girlfriend, he requested his brother to accompany him to hand himself to the police at Vaalbank.

The trial resumed where Thabo was convicted and hence his sentence. The accused was also found to be unfit to possess a firearm.

When handing down the sentence, Judge Thando Mankge quoted the Statistician General in saying that a society free of fear of crime is tantamount to growing the economy because their fear of crime, limits women to engage in economic activities. She further sent a warning that tourists will be sceptical to visit South Africa if Gender-Based Violence crimes in the country are mostly flagged on the global map.

The police management trusts that the sentence will bring hope to victims of GBV as well as send a strong message to perpetrators of all forms of crime, especially when such crime is directed towards women and children, that severe punishment exists for such offenders.

TWO BOGUS TEACHERS CONVICTED FOR FRAUDULENT QUALIFICATIONS

By MP Staff Reporter

MPUMALANGA – On December 03, 2020, Sibongile Rose Khuzwayo (50) and Nonjabulo Bahle Mabuza (47) were found guilty and sentenced to ten years imprisonment by the Volkrust Regional Court for fraud.

The pair were arrested by members of the Hawks' Serious Commercial Crime Investigation in February 2017 after a probe revealed that they were employed by the Department of Education as teachers in July 2006 using fraudulent qualifications.

Khuzwayo took up her post at Ham-bani Primary School whilst Nonjabulo Bahle Mabuza was attached to Seme Secondary School. In 2015, nine years into their unwarranted employment it came to light that there were teachers in and around Gert Sibande District that got employed using fraudulent tertiary qualifications.

In an effort to address the concern, the department issued out a circular calling upon all educators to submit their qualifications for authentication. It was during this process that the pair failed to comply and instead opted to resign. Their initial applications were scrutinized and the qualifications were deemed to be suspicious. The Hawks were tasked to conduct further investigations which ultimately proved that the pair's credentials were indeed fake.

Investigation revealed that Khuzwayo submitted fraudulent matric certificate with a serial number belonging to a deceased person. Mabuza submitted fraudulent Bachelor of Education Degree purportedly issued by the University of Pretoria.

The court has sentenced both to ten years imprisonment each. Their sentences are however wholly suspended for five years on condition that they are not found guilty of fraud during the period of suspension. Additionally, a confiscation order for their pension fund in the tune of R600.000 each has been granted.

POLICE LAUNCHED SAFER FESTIVE SEASON OPERATIONS

By MP Staff Reporter

VOLKSRUST – On November 27, 2020 the South African Police Service in Mpumalanga has launched the Safer Festive Season Operations at Volksrust as directed by the Minister of Police, General Bheki Cele.

The event which was attended by about 500 people, was hosted at the rugby stadium under the Dr Pixley ka Isaka Seme Local Municipality in Volksrust.

The local Municipality also pledged to support the police in the fight against crime during this festive season.

The Provincial Commissioner of the South African Police Service in Mpumalanga, Lieutenant General Mondli Zuma, assured the citizens that the police are already out in full force under the theme "Tight Grip" and mission "Well-being and safety of all South African Citizens".

The General also urged the public to remain vigilant whilst allowing law enforcement officers to do their work freely. The community members were also warned to guard against substance abuse, which often leads to undesired consequences or commission of crime as well as car crashes which often claim lives of people.

During the event, there was a show of force by various law enforcement agencies, a sign which exhibits the readiness by astute members to tackle any threat to the safety of the citizens.

The Safer Festive Season operations will be intensified with a number of lined up activities in the public space that directly or indirectly have an influence on the safety and security in the province.

The joint forces of the security cluster in the province are geared to prevent, combat and investigate all forms of crime which often create a feeling of timid and insecurity as well as compromise the safety and security of women, children and the vulnerable groups. The situation can limit the wellbeing of communities and it necessitates proactive policing actions to avert such, hence the need for operations to be conducted during the festive season.

The event ended with a gesture of caring for the destitutes where Gift of the Givers organization donated food parcels to 300 elderly persons.

POLICE WARN PUBLIC ABOUT DRINKING AND SWIMMING AS SIBLINGS DROWN AT A PARK

By MP Staff Reporter

ELUKWATINI - The police in Mpumalanga strongly warn community members to refrain from swimming when under the influence of alcohol.

The warning comes in the midst of a sad incident where siblings aged 31 and 33 drowned over the weekend, on Saturday, 28 November 2020, at Barberton where the siblings were last seen swimming in a pool.

On that sad day, 15 family members residing at Tjakastad Trust in Elukwatini decided to go to Msunduka Park to host a party.

The siblings, Elvis Khumalo 33 years old and 31 year old June Khumalo who were part of the group, were seen by another family member swimming that evening but mysteriously vanished. The entire family began a searching party for them until late at night but without any success. The following day, Sunday, 29 November 2020, the search continued but before midday, an employee at the park noticed something suspicious in the pool and that is when lifeless bodies of the siblings were discovered. Police as well as paramedics were notified about the incident and upon arrival, the victims were certified dead. Police are appealing to the public to avoid the dangers of swimming in pools and dams especially without adequate training, proper monitoring as well as whenever they have consumed beverages which might put their lives in a compromising position.

Parents are also urged to look after their children especially now that schools will be closing in the near future and the precipitated rain falls. Dams, rivers will be full and children might disregard the danger thereof if not monitored.

FOUR SUSPECTS AP- PEARED IN COURT FOR TAX EVASION

By MP Staff Reporter

MPUMALANGA – On December 02, 2020, Simangaliso Ennocent Khoza (36), Nhlanhla France Nyambi (42), Marcus Madala Mdluli (43), and Sabelo Given Khumala (34), appeared before the Nelspruit Magistrate’s Court for alleged fraud and tax evasion.

The four were arrested earlier on the same day following a Hawks’ Serious Commercial Crime Investigation which revealed that they colluded and defrauded the South African Revenue Service (SARS), through misrepresentations.

Their modus operandi was that around 2017, they registered dormant entities including; Khuzumdumo General Trading and Smangalisobusisiwe General Trading. Fictitious tax returns were then submitted to SARS resulting in actual losses of approximately R3.8 million.

About a week ago, Simangaliso Ennocent Khoza was initially arrested with his partner, Busisiwe Prudence Nkosi (35), a sole director of Madam and Eve General Trading. The pair was charged in for fraud, theft and money laundering in contraventions of the Prevention of Organised Crime Act as well as the provisions of the Tax Administration Act. They were both released on R10 000 bail each.

Further investigation has linked Khoza to other entities established for a common purpose of defrauding SARS through fraudulently tax returns. The money would then be paid into the other arrested syndicates’ accounts and further laundered into family and friends’ bank accounts.

The Court has extended Nkosi’s bail from his previous appearance. Nyambi was released on a R3000 bail, Mdluli was released on a R5000 bail whilst, Khumalo was released on warning.

The group is expected back in court on 14 December 2020.

NTOKOZO SIKHOSANA CROWNED MISS EMA- LAHLENI 2020

By Treasure Masombuka

MIDDLEBURG - Born Gembok-spruit, Ntokozo Sikhosana (22) was crowned Miss Emalahleni 2020 on Saturday, November 28, at Emalahleni Civic Theater.

Celebrating her crown, the queen told Mpumalanga Press that she was in disbelief about winning the award. "Being crowned as face of Emalahleni is a dream comes true, it hasn't sunk in yet. The recognition is amazing and out of this world. A title goes with responsibilities, there is more to be done than just wearing a sash and crown" she said.

She added that she would now be setting her sights on becoming Miss South Africa and will continue helping needy children in the community of Emalahleni. "Looking forward to make change around Emalahleni community and being an inspiration to young girls. I stand for women and being a woman means being a warrior of change", Ntokozo said.

She attributed her success to those who wanted the best for her. She said she was surrounded by positive vibes, and support from friends and family. Her friend Michael Siyabonga, who has been a pillar of strength, took it to social medium to congratulate her friend. "As her support system we always believed in her abilities and passion for her beauty pageant.

We will continue supporting her even to higher competitions such as Miss Mpumalanga and Miss South Africa. We wish her the best", said Siyabonga.

IDOLS SA'S ZAMA KHUMALO REACHES TOP 3

Zama Khumalo

By MP Staff Reporter

Emalahleni born and bred muso and Idols SA finalist, Zamantungwa Khumalo (18), continues to fly the Mpumalanga, Mzansi and the women's world flag high.

On Sunday, 29 November 2020 the young musician moved to Top 3 and is the only woman standing in this competition. Zama redeemed herself after receiving lukewarm responses from the judges. Zama blessed the audience, with the gospel duet with Ntokozo Mbambo, singing 'In The Shadow', had Randall declaring it her best performance yet. "You opened with restraintand killed it at the end," he said. Moved to tears, Unathi said she knew all along that this is what she is capable of, with Somizi saying she and Ntokozo were a match made in heaven and she had held her own. Her next performance, singing 'Empini' by Kelly Khumalo, had Unathi declaring Zama was back and Somizi saying she was certainly securing her spot in the finale. The gospel performance was just a glimpse of what Zama has in store for her fans #TeamZamaq. The single reminds us of how amazing it is to be fully acquainted with the Lord and to always trust in him as he is a true friend. With the top three performances now in the bag, the big question is now who will be the last man or woman standing in two weeks' time? This week, however, will be a big week for the top three as they will record their first singles with Kalawa Jazmee Records.

"Through Mzansi Magic's new partnership with Kalawa Jazmee, we are excited that our remaining contestants will in the coming week record their singles with a record label that has built the careers of some of SA's most loved musicians. This is arguably their first real taste of stardom, but for us, they became stars from the moment they auditioned – and over the weeks, we have seen them shine brighter and brighter," says Nomsa Philiso, Director of Local Entertainment Channels at M-Net. To ensure Lungani is named the ultimate Idol, locals are urged to vote for him and take him to the top.

To vote, SMS 4 to 37400 (cost R1.50) or visit www.idolssa.tv/vote and vote for free. Voting ends at 10pm every Tuesday.
