STEP- ASIDE RULE DIVIDES ANC

NEC meeting erupted into chaos.
They intended to resort to force early elective conference should Magashule forced to step aside

By Jimmy Masombuka

BUHLEBESIZWE 2 - The African National Congress (ANC) introduced the rule that those comrades who are under investigation should step aside from their positions.

The crux of the matter are the allegations level against the ANC secretary-general Ace Magashule. He appeared in Bloemfontein Magistrate Court November 13, 2020 allegedly with corruption charges related to the asbestos contract while he was a Premier of Free State.

The national executive committee (NEC) of ANC wanted to implement the step aside rule that denotes those who are facing criminal charges must vacate their positions.

Magashule's allies had none of it but rallied behind him and fought back against those who intended to implement the rule.

As a result, the NEC meeting erupted into chaos. They intended to resort to force early elective conference should Magashule forced to step aside. However the NEC was given an opportunity to revisit the 7 days implementation of the rule and altered to 14 days. But that proposal was rejected too by Magashule's allies.

According to the reports, another NEC member denoted that Magashule will be removed through consensus.

WHAT HAPPENS TO LIFE COVER AFTER DIVORCE?

By Saai Mahlangu

Many individuals who get married place emphasis on taking out life cover to protect their families in the unfortunate event of death.

However, when going through the emotional stages of a divorce, reviewing and updating your life policy can often be the last thing on your mind. Lee Bromfield, CEO of FNB Life says, similar to the process of entering into a marriage contract, partners should factor in unfortunate circumstances like a divorce when taking out life insurance for their families, especially if there are children involved. He unpacks five options available to consumers after a divorce:

- Changing beneficiaries – if you are no longer financially dependent on each other, you should review and update your beneficiary details. This is to ensure that the correct beneficiaries are paid out should anything happen to one of you.

- Banking details – individuals who are paying their policies from a joint account should contact their insurer and update their banking details, to avoid the policy lapsing if premium payments are no longer honoured.

If your policy lapses, you will no longer be guaranteed the same premium on a new policy, due to factors such as age and your current health conditions, amongst other factors.

Similarly, if you were financially dependent on your partner, you can either takeover the policy payments or discuss the way forward during your divorce settlement negotiations.

- Financial need of children – when there are children involved, an agreement should be reached by both parties in order to protect them financially should both or one of you no longer be around. The decision taken will be based on your individual circumstances as well as estate planning arrangements.

- Sum insured – your financial situation may change after a divorce, making it necessary to adjust your life cover amount to cover any shortfall.

- New policy – individuals who did not have a policy of their own while married should now consider taking out their own policy.

“Failure to review and update your life policy after a divorce, may not only lead to family disputes and costly legal battles, but those who are dependent on you in financial distress,” concludes Bromfield.

Economic Freedom Fighters (EFF) advocate for postponement of local government elections to 2024

By Jimmy Masombuka

BUHLEBESIZWE 2 – COVID – 19 pandemic changes from normal contexts to abnormal including the political fraternity. In South Africa, the mood of local government elections kicks in as they were expected to be held between August and November 2021. The term of office of South African councillors come to end.

Communities in various spheres were expected to elect councils for all district, metropolitan and local municipalities in each of the nine provinces. Julius Malema, the EFF leader emphasised the fact that if the elections continue will be the sense of depriving the opposition parties an opportunity to practice free and fair elections considering the fact that they did not have fair time to campaign for elections. Malema emphasised that the Independent Electoral Commission (IEC) to champion the postponement processes. “Under the current conditions, there will not be free, fair, transparent, and safe elections in South Africa.

Our demand for the postponement of elections does not mean that we are afraid to take the ruling party in different municipalities head-on,” said Malema. The president of a new political party, Action SA, Herman Mashaba said, “to postponed local elections will be unconstitutional. The ANC and EFF are interfering with the country’s democracy.”

MPUMALANGA PREMIER WITH MEC FOR HEALTH VISITS THE NEWBORN WHO WAS MISTAKENLY AMPUTATED A HAND AT WITBANK HOSPITAL

By MP Staff Reporter

On Sunday, 11 April 2021 - Premier Refilwe Mtshweni-Tsipane learnt with shock and disappointment of an incident involving a three-weeks-old baby, the unfortunate incident occurred at Bernice Samuel Hospital in Delmas at the Victor Khanye Local Municipality.

The Premier together with MEC for Health Sasekani Manzini visited the child and the family at Witbank Hospital to give them support, monitor the baby's recovery progress and to assure the family that they don't take what has happened lightly.

The three-week old baby was admitted for diarrhoea at Bernice Samuel Hospital and had to be transferred to Witbank hospital after complications which led to the amputation of the baby's hand. According to information, a drip immediately was put on the hand when she arrived, she was also dehydrated, and when the mother went to feed the child the following day she found that her hand had turned blue and black.

The child had to be transferred to Witbank hospital and her hand was amputated.

The Premier has assured the family that a thorough investigation will be conducted. "While the investigation begins the medical staff involved should be suspended with immediate effect and we should get a preliminary report by next week.

We need only the truth as to what happened, but we also need to make sure we support the family and offer counselling to the young mother and the rest of the family," said the Premier.

Both the Premier and MEC agree that as government they should take full responsibility of what has happened while a proper investigation is conducted.

"We condemn such unfortunate incidents at our health facilities that's the reason the Premier and I as mothers ourselves saw it fit that we come here in person to show the family that they are not alone and that we committed in ensuring that they get justice for this baby," said MEC Manzini.

The MEC said the department is working tirelessly to ensure efficiency at its health care facilities and they won't rest until such is done.

Premier Refilwe Mtshweni-Tsipane, together with MEC for Health Sasekani Manzini.

FORFEITURE OF ANNUAL LEAVE

By Saai Mahlangu

Can annual leave be forfeited? The answer is YES, a non-statutory annual leave can be forfeited.

Leave in excess of the statutory minimum is not regulated by the Basic Conditions of Employment Act (BCEA), but by the contract of employment. The parties can therefore determine by agreement how much leave may be accumulated, when it would be forfeited, etc.

In terms of the BCEA an employee is entitled, in respect of every 12 months leave cycle, to 21 calendar days' leave. Meaning, "The number of working days' leave to which the employee is entitled is equivalent to that which the employee would normally work in a three week period". The employer is obligated to grant annual leave not later than six months after the end of the annual leave cycle.

The employee should apply for all the annual leave accrued in the most recent leave cycle, and this must be taken within the 6 month period after the end of the leave cycle.

If the employer refuses to grant such leave, the employee may approach their union representative or alternatively the Department of Labour to assist with enforcement.

If the employee fails to apply for leave or the employee does not go on leave, such leave would be forfeited.

FOUR SUSPECTS APPEARED BEFORE COURT FACING TWO COUNTS OF MURDER AND ASSAULT ALLEGATIONS

By MP Staff Reporter

PIET RETIEF - On April 12, 2021 Danile Malan (38), Cornelius Gryeyling (25), Othard Klingenberg (53), and Ignitius Steynberg (31) appeared before the Piet Retief Magistrate's Court. The men are facing two counts of murder after two men were reportedly shot and killed at a certain farm in Dirkieskop on Friday 09 April 2021.

They (suspects) are alleged to have also assaulted another man hence a third count of assault with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm has been added against them.

Their court appearance spirals from an incident in which, the suspects are said to have gone to the farm owner to seek employment as seasonal workers. It is said that the farm owner informed these men that they are not welcome on his premises.

It is said that those who came to ask for employment then decided to leave the farm but later realised that one of them was left behind. They then went back only to find that he was kept at the farm by the suspects. It is said that as the men demanded that they let him go, a scuffle broke where two men were reportedly shot and died at the scene. Three other men are said to have also sustained serious injuries.

The residents of Mkhondo gathered and protest outside Piet Retief Magistrate Court where the four suspects of Piet farm murders were appearing for formal bail application.

The protest outside the court was also supported by various political parties. The community do not want the court to grant bail to the suspects. According to the family, what is making the pain even more profound is that the two were breadwinners who were looking after their frail over seventy year old mother and their siblings.

The Premier, Ms Refilwe Mtshweni-Tsipane visited the bereaved family and was accompanied by Vusi Shongwe (Community Safety, Security and Liaison MEC) and Ms. Lindiwe Ntshalintshali (Social Development).

son MEC) and Ms. Lindiwe Ntshalintshali (Social Development).

The Premier indicated that the family will receive psychosocial support and it will also be assisted with burial arrangements. She has condemned the incident in the strongest possible terms. She went on to appeal for the speedy finalization of the case at hand and all other cases involving violations of the rights of people living in farming communities.

On the other hand, MEC Shongwe says racism must not be allowed to thrive in rural areas. He has called on farm owners to always report to the police when they have problems and not take the law into their own hands.

The bail hearing has since been postponed to 19 April 2021 to enable the police to carry out further investigations into the case. The four remain in custody.

CHIPPA UNITED HOT COACHING

MP Press Staff Reporter

Siviwe “Chippa” Mpengesi has done it again and fired coach Dan Malesela a day after Chip-pa United was handed an embarrassing 5-1 by Maritzburg in a league match.

Malesela joined United in December in a deal that was meant to last until the end of the season, with an option to renew for a season. Dance, who has been fired by Mpengesi on several occasions in the past, joined Chippa in December having been fired by TS Galaxy for a week earlier, having gone six matches without a win.

Recently, Chippa United have terminated Belgian coach Luc Eymael's contract with immediate effect, at the back of calls and pressure from EFF Eastern Cape and many quarters for his alleged racist slurs he uttered while with Tanzania's Young Africans SC, calling supporters monkeys and dogs. The chilli boys side, has gained reputation for being trigger-happy with their quick firing reaction.

HEFTY SENTENCES METED AGAINST TWO AFTER MURDER OF MUNICIPAL OFFICIAL

By MP Staff Reporter

STANDERTON - Police management in Mpumalanga has welcomed hefty sentences handed down by the Mpumalanga Division of the High Court sitting in Breyten against Themba Solomon Mhlongo, aged 27 and Fanyana June Mthembu, aged 33. The two were sentenced today, Thursday 01 April 2021, after they were convicted for the murder of 37-year-old Sithelwesihle Mathenjwa in Standerton on 17 November 2017.

Details of how Mathenjwa was killed were heard in court where it was uncovered that on the sad day, Mathenjwa who was employed as a Community Project Manager at the Lekwa Municipality in Standerton, was kidnapped by his assailants where they robbed him of his personal belongings, including his blue Nissan Tiida and a laptop. He was then murdered and his body buried in a shallow grave at a certain farm in Standerton.

Meanwhile in the process, Mathenjwa's family became worried when they could not get hold of him for a while. On 20 November 2017, they then informed police about his disappearance. Police then opened a missing person's file and immediately sanctioned a search party for him but without any success. On 25 November 2017, they made a breakthrough when they spotted Mathenjwa's motor vehicle in Standerton driven by the two men. The duo were then arrested after failing to explain why they were driving Mathenjwa's car.

Nevertheless, the astute members continued with their probe until the men finally came clean and told police what transpired. They confessed to police that they murdered Mathenjwa and concealed their actions by burying his body. The suspects also pointed out to the exact spot where they buried him. A murder case was then opened with additional charges of kidnapping, robbery with aggravating circumstances as well as possession of suspected stolen property. The team of investigators also managed to confiscate Mathenjwa's laptop as it was found in the suspects' possession during the tour of their investigation. The men were charged accordingly and indicated that there were two other men who assisted them in kidnapping Mathenjwa however, the court acquitted them due to lack of evidence to prosecute, meanwhile Mhlongo and Mthembu were sentenced as follows:

- Mthembu was only sentenced to five years imprisonment for possession of stolen property.

- Mhlongo received a life sentence for murder.
- He was further sentenced to 15 years imprisonment for robbery with aggravating circumstances and three years for kidnapping. The court directed that all his sentences run concurrently with the life sentence.
- He (Mhlongo) was also found to be unfit to possess a firearm.

Police management in the province has commended the exceptional work done by the investigating team, the Prosecution as well as the Judiciary in ensuring that the offenders get a punishment that is befitting. The sentences should serve as a deterrence to others who might want to emulate such heinous acts.
